Citizens turned in drunk driver

Citizens turned in drunk driver

A 50 year-old man arrested after several citizens phoned police to complain of an erratic driver has been convicted of drunk driving.

Wayne Richard Green pleaded guilty on June 14 to a charge of driving with a blood alcohol level greater than 80 mg per cent.

Green was pulled over in Olds at about 9 p.m. on May 14. His blood alcohol level was 150 mg per cent.

Judge R. Davie fined Green $920 and prohibited him from driving for one year.

Man jumped on cars

A 23-year-old man who jumped on two cars after coming out of a bar in Olds in April will be sentenced next month.

Bradley Neil McKinnon pleaded guilty on June 14 to two charges of mischief.

The accused was in a "drunken stupor" during the incident, prosecutor Danny Elliott said.

About $730 damage was done to one of the vehicles, court heard.

"He doesn't try to offer any excuse for his actions," said defence counsel Brian Forestell.

Judge Davie adjourned the matter of sentencing to July 19, saying, "This kind of trashy behaviour gets me a little upset at times."

Man fined for false claims

A man who collected more than $9,000 in government benefits although he was not eligible to do so has been fined.

Derek Sewepheg pleaded guilty to 12 charges of unlawfully applying for benefits.

The accused collected $9,374 in 2002 and 2003, court heard.

Judge Davie fined him $2,400 and ordered him to pay compensation.

The judge told the accused if he can't pay the fines he can work them off.

"Having ripped off the government, I think it's an extremely appropriate thing to do," said Davie.

Girl threatened school mate

A Sundre girl who repeatedly threatened to harm another girl has escaped criminal prosecution after making a deal with the Crown.

The girl faced charges of assault and uttering threats. She was scheduled to go to trial on June 14.

The girl was allowed to enter into a $500 peace bond, whereby she agreed to have no contact with the complainant for one year.

Prosecutor Danny Elliott described the accused's actions as "scary". The Crown and defence agreed on the peace bond arrangement.

If the accused fails to remain in good standing with the court, she could be brought back to court on the original charges.

On June 4th The Town of Didsbury held a dangerous goods waste disposal. Didsburians, who would otherwise have to take their dangerous goods outside town, could drop off their waste at the Town Shop from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. The Town is hoping this will become a yearly event.

Candidates tell all at Forum

Conservative: Myron Thompson, Wild Rose MP

Liberal: Judy Stewart

Green Party: Chris Foote

NDP: Jeff Horvath

by Tamara Collins

Didsbury residents had the opportunity to speak to the four Wild Rose candidates in the election, Wednesday night at the all candidates forum.

The Didsbury Chamber of Commerce organized the forum, which was held in the Multi Purpose Room.

According to the four candidates, incumbent Conservative MP Myron Thompson, NDP's Jeff Horvath, Liberal's Judy Stewart, and the Green Party's Chris Foote, the important issues in this campaign are health care, BSE, taxes, and the environment.

Approximately 300 people attended the forum, some asked the candidates tough questions and others offered their opinions.

Thompson has had the Wild Rose seat since 1993 as a Reform Party candidate. The Wild Rose riding includes Didsbury, Olds, Sundre, Cochrane and Airdrie.

An issue which arises in every election is honesty. Many people questioned the candidates on their morality.

"Honesty and morality are both very important in government," said Thompson. "We do need ethics, and I believe over the past ten years I have proven mine."

If re-elected Thompson said he would like to work on less taxes for low income families, more flexibility for people paying back student loans, and getting child porn abolished.

The issue of same sex marriages came up by an audience member, and Myron said he feels marriage should be a union between a man and a woman, and that same sex couples should have a different union.

The other three candidates' opinions differed from Thompson's, they felt same sex couples should be given the same rights as heterosexual couples, and they should be allowed to marry.

"We should not discriminate against anyone," said Horvath. "If two people in love want to marry they should. Society changes and the laws should change with it. Being antigay is just unacceptable."

Stewart had strong feelings about the BSE issue, and said it was time to start doing something.

"I do not believe we can rely on the US to open the borders," said Stewart. "We have to find another way."

Foote and the Green Party have their own ideas about the BSE problem.

"We need to open other markets in places other than the US," said Foote. "Like Asia."

Another interesting idea from the Green Party was to give free schooling to seniors.

"We need to get them more hands on experience," said Foote. "They should start going to university."

Health care is an important issue for all candidates, and each one touched on the subject.

Foote believes that to solve the ongoing health care issues, we need to have healthier people.

"Healthier people means a healthier health care system," said Foote.

All candidates agree that if they are not elected they are going to continue to work in the riding to promote the Wild Rose the best they can.

Election

TAMARA COLLINS
EDITORIAL

With the upcoming election on everyone's mind, I thought I would share my two cents about the candidates in Wild Rose.

I attended the All Candidates Forum on Wednesday night, and this is what I discovered...

So there was the Liberals, Judy Stewart. Stewart was a good speaker, she had lots to say, but I think a lot of what she had to say was based more on personal opinion, than on what the Liberals believe. This shows a lot about her character, but not about the Party we would be voting for. There was also a few questions she couldn't answer, I think she seemed like a very moral, honest person though, so I give her points for that.

The NDP Party has, what I believe, to be the best Wild Rose candidate yet. Jeff Horvath was an excellent speaker, and had a lot of intelligent things to say. Maybe it is just me, but I found Jeff to come across as being a very honest down to earth guy. I like what he had to say, and some of the ideas of the NDP.

Then there was the Green Party. Chris Foote was not what I thought he would be at all. I have heard many things about the Green Party, but nothing prepared me for what I saw. I found Foote to be very unpolished. He didn't seem to understand some of the questions. He could also use some work on his public speaking, I just don't think words such as "like" should be used repetitively. His Party has some good ideas, maybe they just need to represent themselves better.

Then there is Myron Thompson. Myron has been doing this for so long, he is a wonderful speaker, and says it how it is. He is also a very respectable man, who I trust very much, and believe in what he says.

Good luck to all Candidates!

Thompson talks agriculture

Myron Thompson,
MP Wild Rose

Conservative Government would help Canadian farmers

by Myron Thompson,
MP

Myron Thompson, Conservative Candidate for Wild Rose, was shocked to learn that farm incomes across Canada had dropped by 72% in 2003 as compared to the previous year.

"This just goes to show the arrogance of the Liberals, when they are unwilling to put the needs of the farmers first.

The Liberal Agricultural Policy Framework announced in 2001 was a faulty plan that ignored the input of farm groups. This government has simply not met its responsibilities when it comes to our farmers," stated a perturbed Thompson.

As the Election Campaign winds down, and voters make their choice on June 28, the Conservative Party unveiled their agricultural platform to provide meaningful assistance to farmers, and allow them a productive role in the development of agricultural policy.

"A Conservative government would support producers who are struggling against conditions outside of their control. We would also provide enhanced support to the agriculture industry," assured Thompson.

The Conservative platform would also give grain farmers the freedom to make their own marketing and transportation decisions, and to voluntarily participate in producer organizations.

Furthermore they would help industries under the protection of supply management remain viable and support the goal of supply management with a reasonable return to the producer.

"The Liberals have nothing but a track record of broken promises and failed initiatives when it comes to the farmers.

Our plan would allow aid to go right to the farm gate, right to the people who need it. When it comes to agriculture, Canadians, and especially those involved in the agriculture industry, have the right to demand better from their government.

However, the only way that will happen is if we vote Conservative on election day," concluded Thompson.

Wonderings of the heart

by Margaret Fradley
"The Power of Letters"

Have you ever considered the power of the letters "DIS". These three little letters change everything. Respect becomes disrespect; grace becomes disgrace; belief becomes disbelief; obey becomes disobey; able becomes disable; regard becomes disregard; and so on; these three letters actually have the power to turn everything around. They turn the positive into negative. An author recently mentioned also that appointment becomes disappointment.

What do we term a disappointment? Is it when things don't go the way we hoped or planned? A relationship gone sour; an illness that has come on us; losing a job; a holiday long planned for not working out, it will be different for each one of us. The question I would like to pose to you is 'what do we do with our disappointment? do they overtake us? Do they rob us of our joy; our gratefulness, or do we see them as perhaps another door opening up for us that we have not seen? It has said that when one door closes another opens.

In the midst of our pain, hurt or disappointments in life, it is difficult to see beyond to what can come about for us; it is difficult to keep focused on the good that can eventually come out of all this. We all face times of disappointment, when things simply do not work out the way we hoped, but we still have the challenge of allowing ourselves the opportunity to rest in the knowledge that there is "One" who cares for the birds and the flowers, and who cares for each one of us even more; who has a plan for our lives, and as we can surrender to that truth and rest in Him, we will in spite of all the circumstances, find a peace that passes all understanding.

I just want you to know I need this message, for my own life, and so perhaps that is why I am sharing it with you. Very often one writes about issues that involve our own situations and lives.

Thank you from the bottom of our hearts, Ross Ford

Dear Editor;

We are writing to express our sincere gratitude to the friends and staff of Ross Ford Elementary. Evan is severely autistic and we have been fortunate to have a program outlined specifically for him right from the start at Ross Ford. He is nearing the end of grade 4, which means that he will be going to Westglen in the fall.

Evan was 3 when he entered the PUF program, so he has been at Ross Ford for 8 years. There just are not words out there to express how incredibly fortunate we feel to have had the care Evan received from this school. There really just aren't any when we try to tell you how reassuring it is to know that when Evan is at school we don't have to worry about that aspect of his life.

This means so much when raising a child with a disability. Remember what they say about it taking a community to raise a child? It is certainly true with Evan. Those of you who know Evan (and there are very few in Didsbury's schools who do not!) have seen how far he has come. A part of that belongs to you. Do not believe those who state that there are superior schools only in the city. It just is not so.

A very special thanks to his classmates and the kids who have been there for him. You are angels!

So, we look forward to working with the new faces at Westglen and feel confident that Evan will do just as well there as he has at Ross Ford. It won't really be good-bye for us, as Evan's brother will start kindergarten in the fall.

Karin, you have been an absolute gem. "With every ending, something new begins."

Thank you from the bottom of our hearts, Ross Ford.

Sincerely, Cindy and Brian Tippe

Dear Editor;

The Conservative Party has made much on their utopian promises to reduce middle income taxes and simultaneously limit government spending. What a bunch of malarkey. As an example of how wasteful a Conservative government would be, consider the True Blue's approach taken towards military spending.

One of the many well-produced (costly) Conservative Party television ads features a huge dumpster filing up to the brim with paper money - signifying the liberal government's well-known disdain for public stewardship.

However, though the Conservatives have promised to sharply reduce our national deficit by paring down the centralized government in Ottawa, Harper has plans to strengthen the Canadian Military by tagging $1.2 billion dollars per year onto the current annual Liberal military budget of $13.5 billion.

According to the Globe and Mail, the proposed Conservative military financial plan of $15.1 billion is actually an underestimation on Harper's part, as seen by examining the Conservative leader's huge gun crazy wish list. Harper not only wants to improve the entire CF-18 fighter fleet, but he also will request a gigantic armada of helicopters and ships, and the construction of an autonomous Canadian Coast Guard if elected.

The incredible proposal is merely a costly suck-up to America - that sinking hegemonic superstar who is busily waging a war of terror against much of the Middle East. And have no doubt in your mind that a Conservative government would also send Canadian troops down into the thick gooey quagmire of Iraq as soon as it was put into power.

On June 28, forget Harper's destructive blue neoconservative bulldozer machine. For the discerning voter who truly desires to improve services, strengthen the economy and help improve environmental standards, the Green Party is the much better option.

There are many who claim that the Green Party is too idealistic. But practicality is written deep within its economic platform. Unemployment is indeed a significant concern of the Green Party's. To better match the skills demanded by modern employers, the Green Party will actively finance a series of educational programs.

Appeal your taxes

Dear Editor;

Once again the farming community is getting hit with a huge tax increase. Take a close look at your farm residential tax. The mill rate stayed the same on farm land, while the assessment value on your three acre farm residential parcel increased on an average of 17.9 percent. When our local MLA was asked about this increase we believe his comments went something like this "I was on the committee the Provincial Government set up to discuss increasing farm residential assessment, but due to the recent BSE, drought and grasshopper problem the Provincial Government shelved all discussions. Three municipalities, one being Mountain View County volunteered to implement this increase as an experimental trial to see if it would be accepted. If people are having a problem with this tax increase they should appeal their taxes within the 30 days of receiving their notice, as that is the only option they have in regards to this increase."

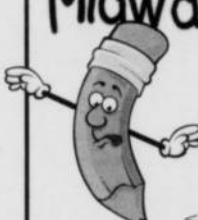

He also indicated that different zones will have different increases. Some zones may experience a 5% increase while other areas may receive as high as a 25% increase.

The MVCT Association suggest that perhaps everyone should appeal their taxes this year. We had a 5% increase in taxes last year and at that time our councillors stated, "it was a hard decision to make." Apparently this year, they didn't have a problem approving a 17.9% farm residential assessment increase. We don't believe we can blame our Provincial Government for this one.

If we all appeal our taxes this year, the County would find it impossible to hear all the appeals within the next two years. If taxes keep going up at this rate, maybe we will all be forced into a tax revolt in the near future.

New High School update

IAN TAYLOR

by Ian Taylor

Just east of the County Office gophers now play on the field where before too long a brand new $6.4 million new high school will rise from the ground.

For many of us this is a dream come true. The present high school dates from 1953. Even back in the early 80's its gym was judged inadequate and the move to upgrade it, led by the school's Advisory Council, ultimately resulted in the building of Westglen Middle School.

The high School continued in the same facilities - more space and a different atmosphere with the loss of grades seven and eight - but twenty years on the building was in major need of repair and upgrading.

The provincial audit on the state of school buildings rated Didsbury High as the most urgently in need of modernization in Chinook's Edge School Division.

Ultimately it made more economic sense to build a new school for 390 students rather than do an extensive makeover for a school with a capacity of 554.

This exciting new project for Didsbury is distinguished by the amount of non architect input sought for the planning. For years, school design took the form of a package pulled off the shelf and given some minor tweaks for local circumstances. Thankfully, the modern approach to building projects, both new schools and modernizations is to have significant input from those using them and from community members.

To effect this we have established a Design Team of fifteen people that includes two architects from Gibbs Gage, parent and student representatives, the school administration, two local trustees, central office personnel, and a representative from Alberta Infrastructure.

So far we have met three times and these meetings were preceded by an open house on April 21 '04. At that meeting we sought public input.

Two key points emerging from the questionnaires returned were that the building be open and bright with a gym that is spacious enough for high school sports and future expansion.

Some of you may have been lucky enough to design your own home from scratch. You know the endless possibilities of floor plans that can go into quite a small area. That's what we're doing now but on a much bigger scale. Within the parameters of budget, site location, and program needs we look at various configurations to obtain the best use of the 4,200 sq. meters allocated. If, for example, we have bigger and more hallways then we have less space for other teaching areas.

Already some fundamental decisions have been made about the building. It will be a one storey structure with gym, library, band room, fabrication and home ec. labs., and a student gathering area. We are also committed to incorporating a number of Green Building approaches such as using recycled materials and passive solar heating. It is a responsible approach that not only sets an example now for students but should have cost benefits well into the future.

Since our budget is limited to the cost of building construction there are several areas where we are seeking private or corporate sponsorship. The new school will cover only 7% of the fifteen acre site and that leaves much area to landscape and develop sports fields. We'll need outside help for that. We will also need help with some aspects of the "Green" functioning; such things as photo voltaic cells and wind turbines have associated capital costs.

Another idea that was heard during the early stages was to incorporate a community theatre for local and school productions. Roy Brassard has approached the town on this idea but there is little interest at present. However, now is the optimal time to become involved in the design process for those wanting to create a facility with possible community or corporate partnerships. It is always more difficult and costly to add on afterwards.

This is the first of several ongoing articles written with the intent of keeping the community informed on the new high school's progress. If you have questions or comments you could contact Roy Brassard at 335-4530 or myself at 335-8575.

Volunteer of the year

Ashley Howard

by Tamara Collins

Ashley Howard is making a better tomorrow, today with the volunteer work she does at the Didsbury Hospital.

Last week Howard was honored for that hard work, when she was declared this year's Volunteer of the Year.

Since she started volunteering at the hospital in 1998, Howard has put in 339 hours. Earlier this year she was also awarded her 300th hour bar.

"Ashley is definitely part of our team" said Dawna Faryna, Volunteer coordinator. "She is very appreciated for all her hard work."

Howard is excited at the prospect of going on an overnight camping trip with the hospital this summer.

At the hospital, approximately four to five nights a week, Howard ensures all the other volunteers working that night have arrived, and if not she covers for them.

"She knows the routine on almost every unit," said Faryna. "That is very helpful to us. Ashley has matured here, she knows all the residents by name, and knows what they like and don't like."

Howard likes to call the residents grandmas and grandpas.

"My favourite part is visiting all the grandmas and grandpas," said Howard. "I enjoy spending time with them."

In September Howard will attend Bible College in Caroline, after graduating this month from Didsbury High School.

"I am sad to leave, but excited to start college," said Howard.

Howard did work experience through school, at the hospital, which increased the amount of time she was spending there.

"She is here all the time helping out," said Faryna. "I am not sure what we would have done without her."

Howard's younger brother is now following in her footsteps, and also volunteering at the hospital.

"It is a great program to help others, and keep children out of trouble," said Howard. "It is good for both boys and girls."

New lifestyle fits Better Body winner just great

It just seems natural that Didsbury's own Selma Brown be chosen as the winner of this year's Better Body Challenge—a fitness and lifestyle competition held annually at Fitness FX.

Brown made a conscious effort to begin to re-think the fitness and lifestyle choices she was making for about the past year. Joining the local gym (Fitness FX), reaping all the personal training benefits from WAM Fitness Consultants and taking on the Better Body Challenge in February just seemed like the next logical step. "I was already part of TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) and decided to join the gym back in November," explains Brown. "...I work in the same building, so I thought it would be easy enough to go for a workout over my lunch hour." When Brown heard of the Better Body Challenge, she saw it as a natural extension to what she was already committed to during her day. Brown's lunch hour workouts paid off. By May she lost 5 1/2 per cent body fat, 17 pounds and 18 3/4" overall. "I never really thought I'd win...I just wanted the motivation to lose the weight and body fat."

This is the fourth year Fitness FX has run the competition dedicated to helping others achieve their diet and exercise goals. Participants are encouraged to seek advice on individual diet and exercise regimens to help them with the transformation to a healthier and stronger body. The annual competition begins in February and ends in May.

In addition to increasing her physical activity, Brown continued to introduce healthier eating choices at home for not only herself, but her family. Brown is married with two children Cassidy - 13 years and Seaver - 10 years. Because she had already begun to cook more healthfully after joining TOPS last year, the transformation to even better food choices wasn't a difficult one for the Browns. "I don't cook separately for myself, my children, or my husband...we all pretty much eat the same thing." The practice works well for Brown who had already lost 50 pounds with the help of TOPS before entering into the Better Body Challenge.

WAM Fitness Consultant, Marc Aubee, says out of the 30 people that entered the contest back in February only 10 finished - one of them Selma Brown. "In the end," says Aubee, "...the contestant that could demonstrate the greatest degree of change in each area and how drastically they have improved their lifestyle. Judges for the Better Body Challenge Competition were specifically recruited from Calgary and Edmonton to maintain a level of impartiality.

Brown won a one-year free membership at Fitness FX along with $100.00 worth of free supplements. Her advice to others trying to incorporate a healthier lifestyle is this; "Don't give up. You have bad days and you have good days, but your health is always worth it in the end."

Fun fly cleared for takeoff Canada Day

Grant Hemming

Somehow Canada Day in Didsbury just wouldn't be Canada Day without the familiar whir and buzz emitted by dozens of model airplanes north of town. Enthusiasts from across the area will once again be treated to four hours of airborne entertainment thanks to the 13th Annual RC Fun Fly taking place Thursday, July 1st from 12:00 pm - 4:00 pm at the airfield just outside town. The event typically attracts up to 40 different aircraft flown by professional model pilots from clubs across the province. Grant Hemming has been a model airplane enthusiast for many years and is helping organize the event in addition to his duties as Treasurer of the RC Fun Flyers. "This is not a competition...just a relaxing, fun day where the public and the pilots can come out and enjoy seeing some of these aircraft in motion." Hemming hopes the afternoon event will be informative to those who may know little about what they are actually viewing up in the sky. "I'll be providing commentary over the sound system on just exactly what kind of maneuver the aircraft is doing and what kind of aircraft is up in the air and so on...I hope it will be interesting to some of our viewers who may not have seen this kind of thing before." Generally speaking, Hemming says there are typically three different varieties of model aircraft that participate in the event. "Those are Free Flight, Electric or Gas...But there's actually more than that available under each of those categories," Hemming explains. "Most people really have no idea. It's a very diverse hobby."

Didsbury's Annual Fun Fly is actually one of about 100 similar events held across the province each summer. "Competition speeds can reach up to 180 miles per hour," Hemming reports. "...but ours usually run somewhere between 50 and 80 miles per hour. That's fast enough depending on the kind of aircraft you've got going." The one stipulation we really have to enforce closely is that any participants in the Fun Fly have to be members of the Model Aeronautics Association of Canada (M.A.A.C.).

Hemming says a great part of the appeal for the event lies in the uncertainty of which kinds of models will be able to be viewed. "We never know what we will get until the day arrives," Hemming explains. "...sometimes it's just airplanes, but there have been years that we've seen helicopters and jets out there too. You just have to come out and see what's there." Newcomers to the Fun Fly event will find the airstrip by traveling one mile north of Westglen School, then one mile west and 1/2 mile North. "Bring your lawnchairs and enjoy the afternoon," says Hemming. For the convenience of the patrons who attend the event, a concession stand will be available on site. For more information, call Grant Hemming at 507-3357.

New event adds intrigue to Light Horse Show

There's a new event being held in conjunction with the Didsbury Light Horse Show this year. It's called a Jeopardy Challenge Trail Course and is bound to be attracting a lot of attention this year.

Entries are being called for now in preparation for the new event to take place Saturday, July 10th at 7:30 pm at the Caluori Pavilion in Olds. Horse Show Committee Show Secretary, Mandy Whiteside, says there is bound to be some curious horse owners interested in learning more about this relatively new riding event. "It's new to most everybody up here, I'm pretty sure...They do use this quite a bit at places like Spruce Meadows as part of their 'Challenge of the Breeds', and I've seen it done quite a bit in places like Medicine Hat..." According to Whiteside, the concept behind the Jeopardy Challenge Trail Course compe-

"It's a timed event that involves a trail course with everyday horse-type obstacles like opening gates and going over bumps..."

tion is actually fairly straightforward. "It's a timed event that involves a trail course with everyday horse-type obstacles like opening gates and going over bumps...things every good using horse should be able to do," Whiteside explains.

Newcomers to the sport can be rest assured no harm will come to their horse as a result of the course. "We're not out to hurt anyone...this is a fun, safe event that involves just everyday stuff." Prize money for the event ranges from $250.00 for first place to $100.00 for third place.

Anyone with a Light Horse that is interested in entering the Jeopardy Challenge Trail Course is encouraged to give Whiteside a call at 556-6098. "It only costs $25.00 to enter and it's bound to be a lot of fun. It's very exciting to watch too so if anyone just wants to come down and see what it's all about, we encourage that too."

NEIGHBORHOOD Soap Box History

by Tamara Collins

The 4th annual Lions Soap Box Derby took place this past weekend. Saturday morning, 26 contestants filled the secondary highway 582, from Reimer to Feeg's Propane, where the road was blocked off.

Ryan Eaton won the A event, and was announced having the fastest car in the race, when he was clocked going 40 km per hour.

"Last year we made the car, and it took us a few weeks," said Lawrence Eaton, Ryan's dad. "We also worked on it for a few weeks this year doing modifications."

The crowd was so impressed with Eaton's speed, that another competitor's parents expressed concerns of cheating. These allegations were quickly dismissed by organizers.

In total there were four events, A to D, and the winner of each event received a cash prize and a trophy.

Last year Eaton won the D event.

Participants were from Didsbury, Olds, and there was even a few from Calgary.

Each participant paid a $40 registration fee, which also got them a t-shirt, a hamburger and a drink.

"Last year we took notice of the fastest cars and what they used," said Kim Eaton, Ryan's mom. "We applied these things to our car this year, and we are very happy with the results, and very proud of Ryan."

Gigantic furniture liquidation at Olds Sportsplex

Summer's here and so is Sim's annual giant furniture liquidation sale.

Sim's Furniture in Olds has once again been appointed the liquidating for the recent Mega Group Dealer Show held in Calgary.

The sale will be held at the only place in Olds big enough to accommodate it-the Olds Sportsplex Main Ice Surface.

This year's sale will surpass all others and is guaranteed to be the biggest ever with the largest selection available anywhere in Alberta if not Canada.

Sim's will be liquidating brand name furniture including: Winners, Ambassador, Springwall, Palliser, Buhler and more.

"We have complete home furnishings and appliances available," says John Potiuk, owner of Sim's Furniture in Olds.

Because of Sim's massive buying power at the Calgary show, it can offer discounts totalling 25 to 75 per cent off the lowest cost sheets.

Think you have to go to the city to receive discount pricing? Think again.

Every year this sale attracts customers from cities including Calgary, Edmonton, and Red Deer.

There will be more than $550,000 of brand new, brand name inventory at this sale. All items are one-of-a-kind include full warranties, and delivery is available.

"People have been asking about when this sale take place since January," says John.

Shop early to avoid disappointment. This is the biggest sale of its kind.

These prices will never be seen again. Credit terms are available.

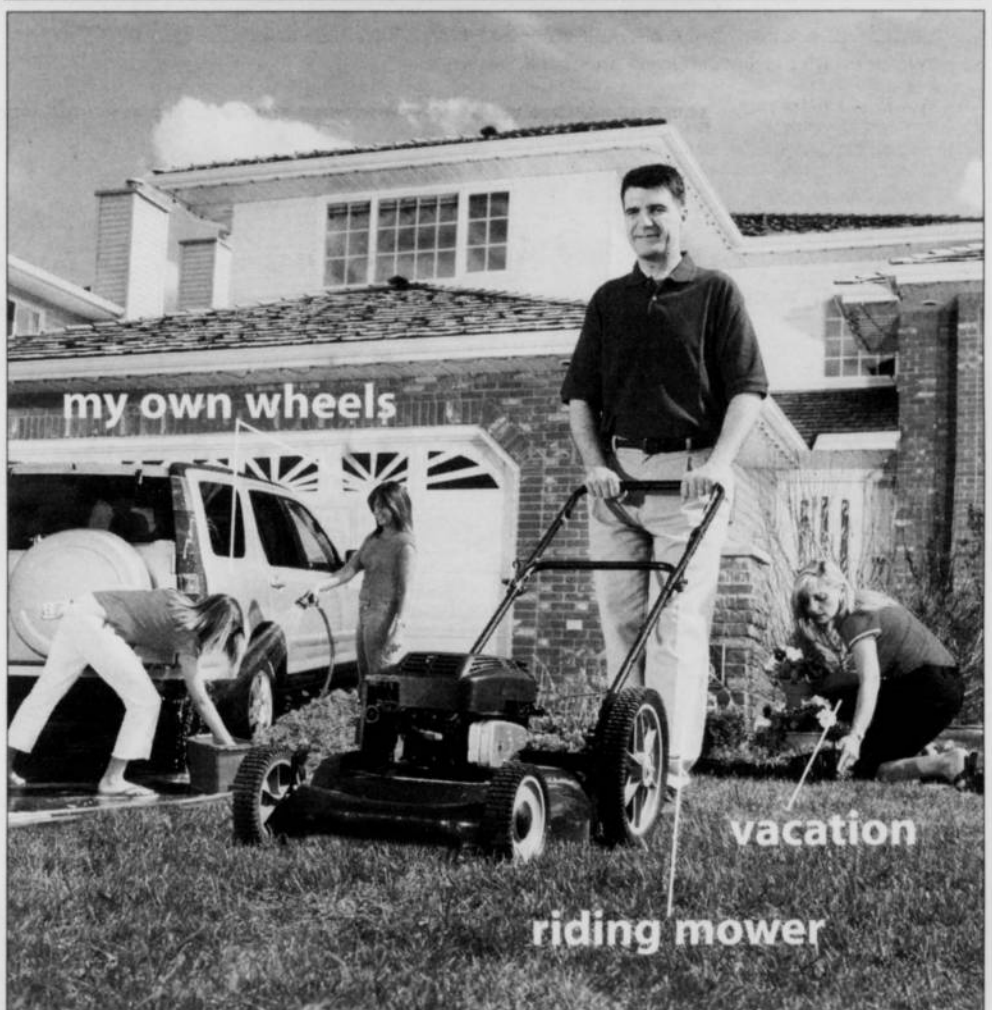

This year's sale starts Friday, June 25 at 9 a.m. at the Olds Main Ice Surface at the Olds Sportsplex and ends Monday, June 28 at 5 p.m.

Health, money and serving your community

by Dorothy Moore

On June 14 the Friends of the Didsbury Hospital met with Calgary Regional Health Authority representatives Beckie Nickerson, Linda Foley, and Lori Anderson and they invited me to attend. The Healthy Okotoks Coalition, an independent community group that promotes community wellness through all kinds of groups and activities, told us about how they enhance and assist Okotoks. They sponsor environmental initiatives and community gardens, promote recreation for all ages, FCSS, seniors and input to the CRHA on building design and much more. There are advantages to a more inclusive non-profit (grant eligible) community group like this rather than smaller ones, each with their own hard working executive.

Regarding local concerns, the Unit 3 replacement money will definitely be used in Didsbury District, and the CRHA planning department has the project on its list. It was stated that the community will have some input on the design. The hospital is continuing to be busy, and we were reassured that enhancing it is their plan. Summer scheduling of staff is a challenge that they are working on now.

We have finally heard from the provincial Solicitor General regarding police funding! Their letter dated June 1, 2004 arrived June 12. We have already paid for the first three months of 2004. Our fiscal year is the calendar year. The province's fiscal year goes from April 1 to March 31. The AUMA checking into some of the uncertainties that still remain - such as the possibility that upon 6 months notice police funding could change again.

Town council and staff prepared for our budget for the calendar year, with the calendar year, with the hope that there might be some relief for the lack of resources needed to fulfil our growing roles and responsibilities, with an increasing burden of regulation. There was no certainty that there would be any relief. In our AUMA meeting with Provincial Treasurer Pat Nelson she made it clear that there would be no pre-budget hints.

One of the reasons that I ran for mayor was to work on reducing the accumulated debt of over $4 million. Principal and interest payments on the debt account for a total of $871,575 for 2004. That is 40% of municipal property tax alone, or about 20% of all our revenue. This council has made our number one priority to get our debt to a more manageable level and to have some money saved for emergencies, as any responsible family would. The good news is that in 2004 we will be paying off a debenture that will decrease the combined principal and debt payments to $561,450 for 2005. This does not mean we will have money to spare. It means we will begin to operate within more sustainable financial limits. It means we can finally set priorities with residents for the most crucial of our postponed maintenance, repair, renovation and improvements.

I would like to encourage those who would like to participate in creating a more viable future through conservative fiscal and careful spending as well as working cooperatively with our larger rural community and urban neighbours to contact me about becoming a town councillor this fall. Being a councillor is sure to be interesting and incredibly personally (though less financially) rewarding. My direct line at the Town office is 335-7363. Call anytime.

Honouring with a maple leaf

by Tamara Collins

To honour their father/uncle, who fought in both World wars, they placed a maple leaf, cast in metal, on his grave.

Brothers Norm and Fred Hodgson, and their cousin Josh Storey, came to Didsbury to honour Hugh Hodgson, their father/uncle with the maple leaf.

"He fought in both world wars," said Storey. "The first one when he was 18 years old, and then the second in 1939."

On the maple leaf it reads, "One who served their country".

The maple leaf was sponsored by the Saskatoon Legion.

Hugh Hodgson lived in Didsbury from 1959 until he passed away in 1966. His wife Dorothy, continued to live here until 1974.

Presently Dorothy is 106 years old and resides on the Island. She will turn 107 in July.

"We have wanted to put something special on his grave for awhile," said Norm Hodgson. "This was the time we could all get together and do it."

Norm Hodgson places a maple leaf on his father's grave to honour him for fighting in both World Wars.

On the top of the hill going east out of town there's a vacant lot right beside 'Windsor Castle'. That's where the Didsbury Auction Mart stood and every Wednesday was auction day. Raymond Shantz was the auctioneer and range cattle sold for $300 - $500 while pigs brought from $17 - $30. Raymond was also known as 'Mayor Shantz' as he served the people of Didsbury in that capacity for a number of years.

HOW WE'RE MAKING THINGS RIGHT AFTER OUR RECENT PROCESSING DISRUPTION.

We're glad to say that normal business has resumed at RBC. Here are answers to the questions you're asking.

ARE MOST CHARGES REVERSED AUTOMATICALLY?

Yes. On June 8, we began to automatically reverse, wherever possible, banking service charges, fees and overdraft interest that our RBC clients may have been charged as a result of our recent processing disruption. The vast majority of necessary adjustments will likely be completed by June 30. After June 30, if you see a charge due to the processing disruption that has not been corrected, please bring it to our attention. Contact your branch, business centre or call 1-800-ROYAL 1-1 (1-800-769-2511). Other financial institutions are following similar procedures for their clients. If you think you've been affected, please contact your financial institution.

I INCURRED OTHER COSTS. WILL I BE REIMBURSED?

We will provide reimbursement for substantiated costs and losses directly resulting from the processing disruption.

Here's the process: starting June 21, 2004, clients of RBC and clients of other financial institutions can obtain a Claim Form from any RBC Royal Bank branch, business centre or by calling 1-800-ROYAL 1-1 (1-800-769-2511). A Claim Form can also be downloaded in PDF format from www.rbc.com/clientnews

Claim Forms for up to $100 with supporting documentation delivered by RBC clients to their branch will be processed by the branch. Our employees will provide you with any assistance you require in submitting your claim.

All other completed Claim Forms and supporting documentation can be returned to any RBC Royal Bank branch or business centre for forwarding or can be mailed directly to:

RBC Processing Service Disruption: Redress and Claims Process
Claims Administrator
P. O. Box 517
Waterloo, Ontario
N2J 4A9

To ensure that you have adequate time to assemble the required information, the deadline for submitting claims is September 30, 2004.

Again, we at RBC Financial Group express our appreciation for your patience and understanding throughout the disruption. And we acknowledge the efforts of our employees and the staff of other financial institutions who continue to work so hard to make things right.

Focus on the Family

QUESTION: Would you say that most marital problems are caused by sexual difficulties?

DR. DOBSON: No, the opposite is more accurate. Most sexual problems are caused by marital difficulties. Or stated another way, couples who have problems in bed often have bigger problems during the other 23 1/2 hours in the day.

QUESTION: What would your recommendation be to a young wife and mother whose husband is extremely violent and frequently abuses her and their children?

DR. DOBSON: She should get herself and her kids out of the home immediately. Abuse of spouses and children must not be tolerated. It's against the law, and the law must be enforced. No one has to live in an abusive environment today.

QUESTION: Do you recommend premarital counseling for engaged couples? If so, why? My fiancée and I have spent hours getting to know each other over the past year, so why should we bother with the time and expense of counseling?

DR. DOBSON: Premarital counseling is a must and can literally be a marriage-saver. Furthermore, these sessions can help young men and women overcome the cultural tendency to marry virtual strangers. Let me explain.

The typical couple spends much time talking, as you and your fiancée have done. Still, they don't know each other as well as they think they do. That is because a dating relationship is designed to conceal information, not reveal it. Each partner puts his or her best foot forward, hiding embarrassing facts, habits, flaws and temperaments.

Consequently, the bride and groom often enter into marriage with an array of private assumptions about life after the wedding. Then major conflict occurs a few weeks later when they discover they have radically different views on non-negotiable issues. The stage is set for arguments and hurt feelings that were never anticipated during the courtship period.

That's why I strongly believe in the value of solid, biblical premarital counseling. Each engaged couple, even those who seem perfectly suited for each other, should participate in at least six meetings with someone who is trained to help them prepare for marriage. The primary purpose of these encounters is to identify the assumptions each partner holds and to work through the areas of potential conflict.

The following questions are typical of the issues that a competent counselor will help the couple address together.

- Where will you live after getting married?
- Will the bride work? For how long?
- Are children planned? How many? How soon? How far apart?
- Will the wife return to work after babies arrive? How quickly?
- How will the kids be disciplined? Fed? Trained?
- What church will you attend?
- Are there theological differences to be reckoned with?
- How will your roles be different?
- How will you respond to each set of in-laws?
- Where will you spend the holidays?
- How will financial decisions be made?
- Who will write the checks?
- How do you feel about credit?
- Will a car be bought with borrowed money? How soon?

What kind?

- How far do you expect to go sexually before marriage?
- If the bride's friends differ from the groom's buddies, how will you relate to them?

- What are your greatest apprehensions about each other?
- What expectations do you have for each other?

This is only a partial list of questions to be discussed and considered. Then a battery of compatibility tests is administered to identify patterns of temperament and personality. Sometimes the findings are quite shocking. Indeed, some couples decide to postpone or call off the wedding after discovering areas of likely conflict. Others begin working through their differences and proceed toward marriage with increased confidence. In either case, men and women typically benefit from knowing each other better.

Someone has said: The key to healthy marriage is to keep your eyes wide open before you wed and half-closed thereafter. I agree. Premarital counseling is designed to help engaged couples accomplish that.

Marriage is a lifetime adventure that rewards those who persevere.

GREEN

Although the Green Party's principle focus is the improvement of environmental principles, the Green Party will also bolster sustainable local and provincial economic developments.

Concerning the employed, a Green government would no longer allow discriminatory benefits based on the presently accepted full time, part time or casual employment categories.

Disadvantaged Canadians affected by the digital gap would be given community access to a mailbox, telephone, computer, the internet and a bank account.

Finally, the Green Party intends to promote public accessibility to federal, provincial and municipal services by inducting governmental "kiosks" into shopping malls and post offices throughout the country.

These are just a few of the exciting ideas that the Green Party has to offer. Instead of returning the Conservatives to power in the riding of Wild Rose, dare to make a difference and vote Green this time around.

Bull rider's choice

Simple Cowboy invention, playtime on the range.

Bull and Cowboy with nothing to hide,

Just a bull rider's choice of resign or rejoice,

On a bull brought along for the ride.

With an eight second dream, Cowboy up, what a team.

Get prepared for the bullsparks to fly,

From stomped on to get gored, once the Cowboy's abroad,

Help, two sides of spit in your eye.

Pure adventure, you bet, and the fans are all set,

Clowns positioned to help when they must,

What comes out of the chute isn't what they call cute, It's a hair raisin' rodeo gust.

If the Cowboys prepare on a wing and a prayer,

Then the bulls seem to have their own plan,

At the opening chute, give the Cowboy the boot, For a buck, they deliver their man!

Rodeo with a bull with a look on his face,

That says...bull rider's choice?...great! I'm in!

Wild, affordable fun, weighing more than a ton,

Where bulls, Cowboys and fans, play to win.

OBITUARY

PEPPER - Spence Pepper passed away Friday night, June 11, 2004. Spence was born in Kerrobert, Saskatchewan on May 21, 1915. His family later moved to a farm in Iola, Alberta where he grew up. Spence worked in many different aspects of the propane industry from converting lumber dry kiln to building gas plants. He retired as Vice President in charge of industrial developments for CIGAS Products in 1980. During this period he was a charter member of the Old Lamplighters, a member of the Propane Gas Association, and honorary member of the Alberta Road Builders Association, and chaired many committees attached to these associations. Upon retiring Spence was finally able to venture into another career he loved - being a full-time farmer in Didsbury, Alberta, after being a part-time farmer for 10 years. This was a real highlight in his life. He loved to farm, his neighbors, his garden, and the land. During and prior to this time Spence also enjoyed spending time in Invermere where he had a cottage on the lake and where he and Doedy water skied and golfed to his heart's content. He made friends wherever he went. After retiring from the farm Spence and his wife Jane moved from Didsbury to live in Olds, but to the end of his life he remained a farmer at heart. Spence was a well liked, jovial person who always enjoyed a good laugh and he became famous for his well told jokes, complete with gestures. He will be greatly missed, by his family and friends. Spence is survived by his wife Jane, daughter Doedy (Del) Ryan, Jean (Herman) Wagging, son Arnold (Mary) Pepper, sister Doris Hamilton, brother Doug (Val) Pepper, sisters and brother-in-law Marie and Jack Wintle and Elsie Lynch and nieces and nephews. A memorial service was held on Wednesday, June 16, 2004 at 11:00 a.m. at Mountain View Funeral Chapel, Olds, with Reverend Bob Bettson officiating. Interment followed at the Olds Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to a charity of one's choice. Arrangements entrusted to Mountain View Funeral Chapel, Olds.

Murray Snyder's Bicycle Tour

Murray Snyder is a native Didsburian who is currently criss-crossing North America on a bicycle. He crossed Canada in the summers of 2002 and 03 and is now pedalling from the Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic Ocean - to be completed in 2005. The following is the latest instalment of an e-mail letter sent every week or two to an extensive list of family and friends.

Phase I is complete. On Wednesday Murray arrived back in Didsbury after biking from the Gulf of Mexico (Corpus Christi, Texas) to Winnipeg, Manitoba a distance of 2,873 kilometres. Phase II will begin in two weeks. He plans to cycle at least to Dawson Creek (Mile 1 of the Alaska Highway) and possibly as far as Whitehorse, Yukon.

Next week we will have a report on the last few weeks in the U.S.
